Megalops

Lacepède 1803

mégas (Gr. μέγας), big; ὄψ (Gr. ὄψ), eye, referring to large eye of M. filamentosus (=cyprinoides)

Megalops atlanticus* Valenciennes 1847 -icus (L.), belonging to: referring to its distribution in the tropical Atlantic

Megalops cyprinoides* (Broussonet 1782) -oides, Neo-Latin from eĩdos (Gr. εĩδος), form or shape: cyprinus, from kyprĩnos (Gr. κυπρίνος), carp, allusion not explained; since Broussonet placed it in the herring genus Clupea, perhaps he was referring to what could be perceived as its more carp-like rather than herring-like form or appearance
